New Problems For Hammarskjold

Four Israeli Men Killed In Ambush

JERUSALEM (AP)—Four Israelis were murdered in an ambush Monday night several hundred yards from the Israeli-Jordan border of the Negev Desert.

U.N. truce observers hurried to the scene today.

An Israeli army spokesman said the four men, employees of Israel's water authority, were traveling in a command car which was set afire.

The ambush occurred about 6 p.m. on the Beersheba-Eilat road, not far from Scorpion Pass. It was there that Arab infiltrators attacked an Israeli bus in 1954 and killed 12 of its passengers.

The outbreak on the Jordan border raised new problems for U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold in his mission to put an end to shooting incidents between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

"This outrage bears all the signs of another Fedayeen action from whichever territory the murderers may have come," Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett said in a message to Hammarskjold.

Fedayeen are suicide commando squads, generally made up of Arab refugees from Palestine. They last infiltrated Israel two weeks ago from the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip, killing 13 Israelis in a series of raids before a cease-fire was ordered.

Hammarskjold today was in Damascus trying to secure Syrian agreement to an unconditional cease-fire along the Jordan River and the Sea of Galilee.

Recent serious Arab-Israeli clashes have occurred along Israel's borders with Egypt and Syria. The frontier with Jordan has been generally quiet for months, and that with Lebanon even quieter.

Egypt and Israel agreed to observe an unconditional cease-fire last week. Lebanon subsequently promised to cooperate in reducing tension.

Johnson Says GOP Favors High Farm Props In Election Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) says the Republicans favor high crop price supports in election years, but are for low props in years when they are not running for office.

Johnson, the Democratic leader in the Senate, spoke for his party Monday night in a nationwide radio-TV speech replying to Eisenhower's address a week earlier explaining his veto of the election-year farm relief bill.

The Texas Democrat contended that when Eisenhower first ran for the presidency four years ago, he campaigned for high supports as "the best thing for the farmer."

After the Republicans won, Johnson said, "this promise was forgotten."

May Broaden NATO Work

Dulles Tests Sentiment For Expanding Aims

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles, responding to a variety of pressures, has floated a trial balloon to test sentiment for broadening the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Dulles strongly indicated to newsmen that he was purposely vague in saying Monday the time has come "to advance NATO from its initial phase into the totality of its meaning."

"If that be the common desire of the NATO member nations," he added, "the United States will join eagerly in exploring the possibilities which now beckon us forward."

Demands for a revamping of the 15-nation military alliance have come from many quarters. Canada's Foreign Minister Lester Pearson is known to have discussed the question during U.S.-Mexico-Canada talks last month at White Sulphur Springs, W.Va.

Italy's President Giovanni Gronchi told Congress, on Feb. 29, during his Washington visit, that NATO must change. He said military cooperation had to be "supplemented with new and imaginative forms of cooperation."

Among a variety of pressures for changing the concept of NATO is the Soviet new look, shifting emphasis from military threats to economic aid promises.

Officials of some other NATO members have criticized what they term too great U.S. emphasis on military pacts.

Mother Of Twins Has Quadruplets

NEW YORK (AP)—A tiny Bronx mother of year-old twins gave birth to quadruplets Monday.

Mrs. Carmen Medina, 25, wife of a 40-a-week machinist, had twin girls April 10, 1955. She expected twins again this time. But she had two boys and two girls—a one in a million occurrence.

Mrs. Medina is 5 feet 2 and weighs only 96 pounds. The father, Ciprian, 28, is three inches taller and weighs 115.

The four new babies were put into incubators at Flower and Fifth Avenue Hospitals. They and their mother were reported doing well.

The quads arrived four minutes apart. The smallest, a boy, weighed 2 pounds 5 ounces. The largest, also a boy, weighed 3 pounds 3 ounces.

The Medinas were married in Puerto Rico in 1947. They came here shortly thereafter and now live in a $40-a-month walkup apartment.

Informed he was the father of quadruplets, Medina said: "I think I'd better earn more money. I can't believe it. I was expecting twins."

Patmos Ground Observer Post Sets Aircraft Sporting Record

Six members of the Booth family of Patmos and two neighbors have established an "almost unbelievable" record of 27,150 hours of aircraft spotting for the Air Force since the Ground Observer Post there was established July 29, 1954, according to Air Force officials.

Patmos observers and their accurate hours are as follows:

Robert E. Booth, post supervisor, 6,000; Mrs. Roy Booth, chief observer, 10,000; Roy Booth, 5,000; Roy Booth Jr., 2,500; Mrs. Roy Booth Jr., 2,600; Howard Gillette, Mrs. Booth's brother, 600; Grant Reichart, 400; and Therissa T. Makinson, 50.

The Patmos post is known as the "home type" post. The post transmits aircraft movement reports by priority long distance calls to the Canton Air Defense Filter Center, one of 73 such evaluation centers in the United States.

Approximately 25 calls a day are made to Canton by members of the Patmos post. Toll costs at the Canton station average $600 per day of which the Patmos calls account for approximately $8.75.

The Patmos post members believe there is still a definite need for the Ground Observer Corps. They point out that according to high Air Force officials that branch of the armed services is spending $5 1/2 million annually on communications for the GOC, $600,000 annually on rentals and has about $5.7 million invested in equipment for GOC filter centers and vehicles assigned to the GOC.

They say the GOC cannot rely until the United States has two additional things defense-wise: a distant early warning line which will eventually start out on the Pacific, run up to Alaska, across the north of Canada, across Greenland and down into the Atlantic Ocean; and low altitude radar coverage.

15 Defendants Plead Not Guilty

8 Request Probation; 2 Get Prison Terms

Twenty-six defendants entered 15 not guilty and 12 guilty pleas in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon during arraignment before Judge Joel H. Sharp Monday, following indictments by the April grand jury.

Two of the defendants received immediate sentencing, two sentences were deferred and eight defendants requested probation.

Judge Sharp sentenced Louis Headley, 30, of Rochester, Pa., and Robert Higgins, 24, of East Liverpool to one to 20 years in the Ohio State Penitentiary for auto theft.

The judge deferred sentencing Robert McBane, East Liverpool policeman who pleaded guilty to eight counts of burglary, and Luke Phillips of East Liverpool, who entered a guilty plea to a gambling charge. The prosecutor's office indicated sentencing was deferred because the testimony of the latter two will be required later.

Pleading not guilty were: Ira Cunningham, 50, seven counts of burglary.

Robert Carroll, 33, five counts of burglary.

Jerry Raimond, 23, five counts of burglary.

Louis Stutler, 33, three counts of burglary.

Robert Hanna, 31, one count of burglary.

Dallas Bishop, 38, two counts of burglary.

Bishop and Raimond are former East Liverpool special patrolmen and the other four men are suspended members of the East Liverpool police department.

Bond was set at $2,500 for Carroll.

Russian Cruiser Reported Sunk By Soviet Mine; Many Believed Dead

ROME (AP)—A responsible informant said today that a Soviet cruiser was sunk by a Soviet minefield in the Baltic harbor of Kaliningrad (Koenigsberg) recently with heavy loss of life.

The disaster precipitated an intra-government dispute which led to the firing of Adm. Nikolai Kuznetsov as commander in chief of the Soviet navy, the source reported.

A dispatch from Moscow April 7 reported that Kuznetsov had been replaced as Soviet navy boss by Adm. S. G. Gorshkov, wartime commander of the Soviet Black Sea fleet. The dispatch, which passed through the Russian censorship, said Kuznetsov was officially described as too ill for the job.

The real story was described as entirely different.

The informant said that the lost cruiser was a former Italian vessel turned over to Russia as war reparations. He gave the name as the Novosibirsk.

Naval sources in Rome said Italy turned over the 7,300-ton cruiser Duca d'Aosta in 1948 to Russia. It had a normal complement of 580 men.

The Russians renamed the vessel the Stalingrad. However, in view of the de-emphasis of Stalin, diplomatic sources said the name may have been changed again. While Jane's Fighting Ships lists no Novosibirsk, the Duca d'Aosta was the only Italian cruiser given the Russians.

The informant said the cruiser was blown up in a forgotten mined area and that many crew members died because the captain refused to let the crew take to the lifeboats until too late. The exact death toll was not reported.

Kaliningrad is the port from which Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev sailed on their present visit to Britain. It is the former East Prussian port of Koenigsberg which Russia took over after World War II.

The source said Kuznetsov became involved in the dispute when he defended his captain for delaying the abandon-ship order. The

Montgomery Desegregates Its City Buses

Follows Orders Of Supreme Court; Local Officials Plan Fight

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Negroes rode desegregated buses for the first time in the Cradle of the Confederacy today in the face of a stern warning from city officials to keep the racial barriers up.

Montgomery City Lines, Inc., which operates the city's only bus service, abandoned the traditional segregation of white and Negro passengers in the wake of Monday's Supreme Court ruling.

Only a relatively few Negroes who have boycotted the buses for nearly five months patronized them during the morning because word of the bus company's new policy didn't become known until late Monday night. Some of the drivers were unaware of it until they reported for work today.

Boycott May End

Meanwhile, the future course of the boycott was undetermined, but the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., one of the leaders, expressed hope that the end of segregation would terminate the long protest.

King said the decision will be left to the Montgomery Improvement Assn., an organization formed to support the boycott. The executive board was called to meet at 2 p.m. with a Negro mass meeting perhaps to follow.

The Negro Baptist minister, who was convicted of violating Alabama's antiboycott law for his part in the bus protest, said he didn't believe news of the end of the end of segregation had spread enough to bring many Negroes back to riding the buses this morning.

The car pool which has provided transportation for Negroes throughout the boycott was still operating this morning.

City officials who had insisted Monday that segregation would be maintained despite the Supreme Court's decision, were unavailable for comment, but the city commission was expected to meet this morning.

Neither was there any comment from the bus company, a subsidiary of National City Lines, Inc., of Chicago. Manager J. H. Bagley was unavailable through the night after word spread that a desegregation order had been posted at the company office.

An elderly Negro woman, unaware she was taking part in an unprecedented occasion, became the first of her race to ride on an unsegregated bus in Montgomery.

But the unidentified woman moved to the formerly segregated section in the back after boarding the bus in the chill dawn at historic Court Square, where the first buses of the day make the initial stop to take on passengers.

Quarles Says U.S. Technically Ahead Of Russians In Missiles

DETROIT (AP)—Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles says "we are technically ahead of the Soviets" in development of guided missiles and that the United States is "putting top priority on the development of such weapons."

Quarles told a news conference Monday that he was not surprised by Nikita Khrushchev's declaration in England that the Russians soon will have hydrogen bomb guided missiles that can hit any point in the world.

"It all depends," Quarles said, on Khrushchev's definition of "soon" or a "short time."

"It probably comes down to translating the Russian," Quarles said.

"In a matter of time the Russians will have such weapons," he added with an aside that similar announcements had been made in the past by Marshal Zhukov and others.

Speaking subsequently to a Michigan Aero Club dinner honoring Roger M. Kyes, a General Motors Corp. vice president and a former deputy secretary of defense, Quarles said that in this atomic age "treacherous evasion" might be hard to discover, or if discovered, to counter.

Kyes, deputy secretary of defense from January 1953 to May 1954, was presented the Air Force Exceptional Service Award, its highest civilian decoration.

Hunt Continues For Lost Plane

4 Persons On Craft Last Heard Over Ohio

CINCINNATI (AP)—An intensive search continued today for a plane lost since last Sunday night with four persons aboard.

A fleet of Civil Air Patrol (CAP) planes was to search over a 50-mile long corridor from Cincinnati to Youngstown where the missing four-place craft last reported by radio.

A 40-plane CAP search group, drawn from Cincinnati, Columbus and Youngstown, failed to find any trace of the craft Monday.

The four persons aboard the missing plane:

Richard T. Bethell, 29, the pilot, a salesman for the Monsanto Chemical Co.; Ward Mathis, 30, business manager of Kettering Laboratories and assistant professor of medical administration at the University of Cincinnati; Miss Joanne Heekin, 22, a copywriter in the advertising division of a Cincinnati department store and daughter of D. J. Heekin, vice president of the Heekin Can Co.; and Miss Joan Thurston, 22, a secretary in the General Electric Co. plant at Evendale, daughter of A. C. Thurston, executive vice president of the Red Top Brewing Co.

The two women left Friday for New York where they planned to attend the wedding of a Smith College classmate. Bethell planned to visit his parents in New Jersey.

A Warren private pilot, Ted Kaplis, told CAP officers he saw a plane like the missing one pass over Warren at 7:20 p. m. Sunday, headed south-southeast.

The time was about six minutes after the plane reported by radio to Youngstown, about 12 miles away.

Hanoverton Man Fined, Jailed For Drunk Driving

George Faloba, 35, of Hanoverton, was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail for drunk driving by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer Monday.

Faloba was arrested Sept. 29, 1955 by the State Highway Patrol. He originally pleaded not guilty to the drunk driving charge and was bound over to the grand jury and released after his father, John Faloba of Hanoverton, posted a $2,000 property bond.

His father recently withdrew the bond and Faloba was confined to the county jail to await trial. While in jail he decided to change his plea to guilty and was released for trial by Mayor Cranmer.

Also fined Monday was Angeline Mary Schneider, 38, of Akron, $15, for passing a halted school bus.

Hopes For Any Agreement On Problems Dim

Khrushchev Loses Temper, Clashes With Labor Chiefs

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev strode grimly from a crucial meeting today with Prime Minister Eden, amid plummeting hopes for any solid British-Soviet agreement on world issues.

Moments later the Soviet leaders postponed for 36 hours a news conference they had scheduled for Wednesday. A British Foreign Office spokesman said he could not explain the reason.

With the Soviet-British talks in their final stage—this was the next to the last session—the Russian leaders looked almost sullen as they left No. 10 Downing St.

Eden did not come to the door of his official residence to see the Soviet leaders out, the normal custom for such high ranking visitors. Staring stolidly ahead, the Russians hurried to their waiting car to be driven to the House of Commons for a luncheon.

British Alarm Mounts

British alarm and resentment mounted as a result of Khrushchev's two speeches Monday in which he bragged about Soviet guided missiles with H-bomb warheads and talked tough to labor leaders critical of Communist policies.

A Foreign Office statement said today's talk "reviewed the question of Anglo-Soviet trade and continued discussions on cultural exchanges and on the disarmament problem."

Indications were that Khrushchev and Bulganin ran up against a British stone wall on the trade and contacts phases of the talks.

British opposition to breaking down the Western embargo on selling strategic goods to Russia seems to have irritated Khrushchev and resulted in his new tough tone.

He seemed to approach the talks now with a chip-on-shoulder attitude.

"Drops The Mask"

"Khrushchev drops the mask," said a typical headline describing the acrimonious clash Monday night between the Soviet party head and labor party leaders over the status of Socialists and Jews in Russia and the Red bloc nations.

Even the most leftist of the Socialists seemed shocked.

Informed opinion here traced Khrushchev's new tone to a combination of irritation over the cool reception he and Premier Bulganin have received and their failure to break down Britain's determination not to trade in strategic goods.

There had been reports that some progress was made on the Middle East problem.

Bulganin and Khrushchev wore fixed and automatic-looking smiles as they left their hotel headquarters for the session with Eden. The smallest crowd of their visit watched them leave the hotel. It was grimly silent.

Moscow radio, meanwhile, bolstered speculation here that the Soviet Union expects Britain to help the Russians make closer contact with the United States.

The Moscow broadcast quoted Khrushchev as contending that the Soviet government would like good, friendly relations with all powers, including the United States. "What is more," the

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

This column has been prepared by Victor Riesel's staff after a bedside consultation with the strikers' union whose sight is "still dangerously uncertain," according to physicians in attendance.

The nine-week old strike at Republic Aircraft may wind up within the next few days. Company officials have been told bluntly by the Air Force in Washington that they will lose the contract for F-105 super-sonic jet fighters unless the walk-out is ended soon.

Immediately after this word was flashed to Republic, company officials and union negotiators began a series of face-to-face meetings, on a daily basis, at the offices of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. Until now there had been relatively few such bargaining sessions. Now, observers close to the closed door debating feel that both sides are near the point of crossing the t's and dotting the i's.

WHILE THE EDICT from the Pentagon flybys might have been the clincher, there are other strong factors behind the soon-to-be-expected settlement.

The costly five-month long Westinghouse strike is still fresh in the minds of company representatives. They know that in the face of a solid stubborn line of strikers who refuse to go back to work, they can reach a point of no return profitwise — where losses suffered can no longer be made up easily, if at all.

This is especially true in the aircraft industry, which is almost entirely dependent on government orders. Lose one juicy contract in this field and your chances of recouping are slimmer than in other industries.

The Republic strikers — members of Local Lodge 198 of the International Association of Machinists — were obviously settling down for a long haul. That they could hold out for a long time to come was becoming more and more obvious.

THE PARENT BODY was giving $10-a-week strike benefits to every member reporting for strike duty. In addition, the local was giving each striker an eight-dollar food check each week — redeemable at supermarkets in Brooklyn, Queens and Long Island.

Community groups backing the strikers have been collecting food from door-to-door and have already hauled in sufficient amounts to take care of 1,000 families.

Banks, loan companies and even oil and fuel deliverers have agreed to declare temporary moratoriums on payments and work out deferred payment plans for strikers. Medical and dental services have been provided by the union on an emergency basis and even necessary prescriptions have been filled by the union for its striking members.

On top of that, the strikers begin this week to collect up to $36 a week in unemployment insurance. The IAM was set for a long Westinghouse-type battle and Republic knew that better than anyone.

ANOTHER FACTOR behind the upcoming settlement was the recent pattern established by the IAM and Walter Reuther's Auto Workers Union in aircraft plants on the west coast. Since the Republic strike began, Lockheed, Douglas, North American and Convair Missiles have signed pacts which included across-the-board increases of eleven cents-an-hour this year and seven cents in 1957.

In this pattern there also were adjustments of job inequities, added welfare coverage, improved pension plans and severance pay provisions.

The Republic settlement will follow this pretty closely. Perhaps the biggest pitch of the strikers now is for severance pay guarantees.

Republic, in the past several years, has had a very spotty employment record. Layoffs have been rampant — so much so that a special civic committee was set up last year to study the impact of these job lags on the whole Long Island community.

END OF 12-YEAR QUEST IS IN SIGHT — Mrs. Melitta Real, of San Diego, Calif., is pictured at New York's Idlewild Airport just before departing for Paris on the last stage of a 12-year quest for her daughter, Ursula Blatnik. From Paris she will go to Wertheim, the Volksingen, Saar Region, where she hopes to take custody of the girl. The child, born in a German concentration camp, was taken from Mrs. Real and presumed to be dead. Recently she received word from her previous husband informing her of the good news.

years, has had a very spotty employment record. Layoffs have been rampant — so much so that a special civic committee was set up last year to study the impact of these job lags on the whole Long Island community.

FOR EXAMPLE, union officials say that in 1954, there were over 22,000 men and women employed by Republic but that this figure has steadily dwindled until now there are only 11,625 workers in the bargaining unit.

This fear of layoffs is behind the strikers' insistence that the company negotiate for the payment of a specified amount for each year of service when a man is dumped during slack periods. The Republic strike was the test case for the whole aircraft industry. It was being used as a measure of how much resistance the companies could offer to the unions' demands. With aircraft labor cracking through on the west coast, Republic can't hold out now.

Keep your eye on these aircraft settlements. They are the signs of things to come in most fields — wage boosts ranging from 15 to 18 cents or more. For this is a boom year and labor is taking full advantage of it.

Hall Talks On U. S. Prosperity

Says Labor Share Of Nation's Income Gains

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — The chairman of the Republican National Committee, Leonard W. Hall, said here Monday the "real beneficiaries" of prosperity during the Eisenhower administration are "all the people, not any special interest."

Hall spoke on a "Republican Day" program at Ohio Wesleyan University.

He said corporation profits after taxes, which averaged 7.8 per cent of the total national income during the Truman administration, dropped to 6 per cent in the first three years of the Eisenhower years.

"But labor's share," he added, "amounted to 65 per cent during the Truman years and has risen to 69 per cent during the Eisenhower years."

Hall said the New Deal and Fair Deal "taxed the people more and more . . . so they could hand out more government money and more government jobs in an effort to create an illusion of prosperity."

The Republican leader addressed a student assembly in Gray Chapel as part of a special program in the university's Ben A. Arneson Institute of Practical Politics. Republican leaders from throughout the state and many candidates for public office are attending the session.

The Democrats will have their day at the university next Monday. It will feature a talk by Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler.

Chairman Hall said there have been "abundant job opportunities" for young men and women under the Republican administration, and said the "doors of the Republican Party" are open to all young people. He added: "We embrace you; we need you."

Keeps Money In Home, Is Robbed Of $16,000

CLEVELAND (AP) — A man named Banks who said he didn't believe in banks told police he was strong-armed at his home early Monday by three white-robed men who stole his hoard of $16,000 in small bills.

Frank Banks, 76, former head waiter at the Mayfield Country Club, said that he opened the door of his home in answer to a knock at about 1 a. m. The hooded men then pushed into the living room, Banks told police. One robber held the aged man down on his bed while the other two ransacked the place until they found the money.

The stolen cash, in bills ranging up to $20, represented tips and wages he had saved over 17 years as a head waiter, Banks said.

Officials Gather For Breaking Ground For Dam

MARKLAND, Ind. (AP) — Officials and visitors from Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana gathered here Monday for ground-breaking ceremonies for a 73 million dollar dam.

The ground-breaking — in this case the firing of a dynamite charge — followed individual meetings in each of the three states at Cincinnati, Vevay, Ind., and Carrollton, Ky.

Gov. George Craig of Indiana told visitors here that his state and Kentucky had agreed to jointly contribute $200,000 to provide a roadway across the high level dam.

The dam, slated to produce a pool 87 miles long reaching upriver to New Richmond, Ohio, will replace five outmoded dams.

Seven Governor Candidates Talk

Both Parties Claim They Scent Victory

By The Associated Press
Predictions of both Republican and Democratic victories in November were voiced Monday night as the seven candidates for governor in the May 8 primaries spoke in Northern Ohio.

The two Republican candidates — Lt. Gov. John W. Brown and Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill — were in Cleveland.

Four of the five Democratic candidates — Judge John E. Sweeney, Robert W. Reider, Michael V. Di Salle and Oscar Fleckner — spoke briefly at a Jefferson-Jackson Day banquet in Ashland. Mayor Frank X. Kryzan of Youngstown, the fifth candidate, made a non-political talk in Youngstown.

In addressing a dinner meeting of the Cleveland Citizens for Brown Committee, Brown referred to O'Neill's campaign expenses, asking: "What do heavy contributors expect in return for this outlay of capital?"

Brown called Louis B. Seltzer, editor of the Cleveland Press, the "No. 1 king-maker in the newspaper field." He said Seltzer's endorsement of O'Neill was part of what he called "the marriage of the big three" — Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Seltzer and O'Neill.

Seltzer commented today: "I am editing a newspaper, and not running for political office." O'Neill, addressing two dinners for precinct committeemen, said "this is the year when we can elect a Republican governor in Ohio."

"Republicans all across the state are astir, coming to meetings in crowds," he added.

DiSalle, former Toledo mayor, told some 300 party members at Ashland the Democrats would win a tremendous victory in November. The Taft-Brickey combination opposed the Democratic party in Ohio for many years, he said, "but no other Republican combination can face up to the Democratic strength."

Sweeney, a Cleveland municipal judge, said the Democrats' problem is to "nominate a man May 8 who will win in November." He added a strong candidate would bring all the party unity needed, but that "unity alone will not beat the Republicans."

Reider, a Port Clinton publisher, said he had noted unrest among the Democrats in Ohio and blamed it on "a poor state organization." He promised a "revitalized and rejuvenated" party if nominated.

Fleckner, of Columbus, advocated paying unemployment compensation to strikers for a period of 80 days provided an 80-day notice of an impending strike is furnished. Such payment, he said, would supplement labor-management relations.

Mayor Kryzan spoke at a meeting at which Americanism awards were presented to several young people by the American Legion. He said too much emphasis is being placed on juvenile delinquents and not enough on young people such as those honored at the meeting.

36,023 Ohio Delinquents' Cases Reviewed In Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's juvenile courts last year reviewed the cases of 36,023 delinquents, 2,820 more than in 1954.

In a report released Monday, Donald E. Smeltzer, chief statistician of the State Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, said the 1955 cases load was almost 50 per cent greater than in 1950 when 20,409 cases were disposed of.

A good number of the cases were for traffic violations, Smeltzer said.

Butler county with 601 cases was among those counties with a high number of cases.

Travel Notes

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Notes on travel by a poor man's Marco Polo: You never really know a person until you go on a journey with him. During a two-week trip you can learn more about him than by associating with him half a lifetime in his own home town.

Travel may not necessarily broaden a person—but it is bound to show him up for what he is. It forces him to reveal his real nature as nothing else does. (This, however, is no argument for pre-marriage honeymoons.)

Travel will make a liar out of the most honest woman. If she goes on an expensive vacation but for one reason or another has a lousy time, she'll rarely admit this fact when she gets back home.

She feels the money is never wasted so long as her neighbors envy the fun they think she had—but really didn't. This may sound like a feminine weakness. It isn't at all. It is part of the armor-plate on her strength. Women believe only fools brag about the mistakes they make.

Very few people have the strength of character to stick rigidly to a diet while on shipboard. The greatest possible test of will-power is the ability to actually start a diet while on shipboard. I have never known anyone who could or did.

This is surprising in a way, for most people aboard ship don't overeat because the food is so good—the meals seldom are as good as you can get at a good restaurant ashore—but because they are expected to. It is traditional.

The only really superior dishes aboard most liners are the desserts.

The greatest sadists among travelers are those who, when a ship is rolling in a heavy storm, stuff themselves at the table while murmuring to wan-faced fellow passengers, "seasickness is all in the mind."

Any dolt who makes an observation like that certainly has a poor sense of location.

There are two types of snobs on every tropical voyage: those who endlessly try themselves in the sun so they can come back with a tan—and those who stay out of the sun altogether, just so they can look different.

The saddest sight abroad is a group of lame-footed tourists, bullied by a guide into taking an exhaustive tour of all the local museums and monuments in the holy name of culture.

The average visitor can absorb more worthwhile human culture spending a pleasant evening in the home of an ordinary French family in Paris than he can in three days of wandering through the Louvre.

The best part of any journey isn't in remembering what strange sights you saw—but what interesting people you met along the way.

Most of the strange sights are already in books and you can look at them at home. But to meet the people you have to get out and go—and make your own memories.

Supreme Court to Review Ohio Fire Marshall Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Supreme Court Monday agreed to review an Ohio Supreme Court decision that the state's fire marshal may deny counsel to persons questioned during investigations of fires.

The case grew out of a fire at the Dresden Mills, Inc., Dresden, Ohio, on Jan. 22, 1954. During the investigation of the fire, the state marshal subpoenaed Harry A. Groban and Nathan Groban, owners of the mill. They refused to testify because their counsel was not allowed to be present.

Raps Jury System In Right-of-Way Cases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The chairman of the State Highway Construction Council says the effectiveness of jury trials in road right-of-way cost cases is being destroyed.

The chairman, Clingan Jackson, pointed out that juries are selected on a county basis whereas most of the roads now being built are the responsibility of the state and extend across many counties.

The practical effect of this situation, said Jackson, is that "the jurors are . . . no longer representative of the governmental unit taking the property."

In a report, which is to be submitted today to the Highway Committee of the Legislative Service Commission, Jackson said there have been a number of cases where the assessment of damages by juries have been excessive.

The remedy for this situation is a return to the original concept of the jury trial wherein the jury

Man Dies Shortly After Receiving Jail Sentence

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—James F. Julian, 53, of Lancaster died Monday in Fairfield County Jail a few hours after he and his wife were given five-day jail terms for failing to send their 10-year-old son to school regularly.

A physician who attended Julian said death was probably due to a heart attack.

Municipal Court Judge William C. Pickering immediately released Julian's wife, Mary, 46.

Judge Pickering ordered the jail terms after school officials testified the couple's son was absent from his fifth-grade classes at least one-third of the time without good reason.

TWO KILLED IN FIVE-TRUCK CRASH — Two truck drivers were burned to death and a third badly burned in a spectacular five-truck collision at Clarksville, Ohio, some 13 miles east of Norwalk. The State Highway Patrol said four of the five trucks were eastbound on Route 18. A Trans-American Freight Line truck driven by William Hotinsky, 42, of Pittsburgh, was westbound. One of the eastbound trucks swerved into Hotinsky's tractor and the other trucks piled into the wreckage. Ross Rickert, 38, of Richmond, Mich., and Hotinsky were killed.

Lewis's Union Wins Right To Picket

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled today a union does not lose its right to picket peacefully by failing to comply with the non-Communist oath provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act.

The 7-1 decision reversed a ruling by the Louisiana Supreme Court which had upheld an injunction against District 50 — a catch-all branch of John L. Lewis's United Mine Workers of America.

The high tribunal said the Taft-Hartley Act legalizes peaceful picketing on the premises of an employer, whether or not the union has complied with the non-Communist oath and financial reporting requirements of Taft-Hartley.

In order to be eligible to take cases before the National Labor Relations Board, the Taft-Hartley Act requires union officers to swear they are not members of the Communist party and to file complete financial reports.

Lewis, as head of the UMW, has never complied with the non-Communist oath provision as a matter of principle. He opposes the entire act and demands its repeal.

Lewis himself long has been an opponent of communism, both in and out of unions.

'Kitchen Cabinet' To Meet Ohio Republican Women

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The Republican administration's "Kitchen Cabinet" flies in from Washington today for a grass roots conference with Ohio GOP women.

The wives of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, Secretary of Agriculture Benson and Atty. Gen. Brownell will take part along with wives of 10 other secretaries and undersecretaries. They will fly back to Washington in time to have dinner with their husbands.

Mrs. Carroll D. Kearns, president of the National Federation of Republican women, said it is the first time wives of U. S. Department heads have served as a "Kitchen Cabinet" to spread political gospel.

"It will give women at the grass roots level a much better understanding of politics," said Mrs. Florence G. Morris of Toledo, vice president of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, the organization sponsoring today's affairs.

"Women are more and more interested in government," she said. "They want to know what makes government tick on the national level. They want a first hand knowledge of government."

Mrs. Morris, a housewife whose only son is a precinct captain, said the "Kitchen Cabinet" is "purely an educational project."

The cabinet and subcommittee wives were set to speak to small groups first and then summarize their remarks to the 1,000 delegates in a later session.

The wives of Secretary of the Army Bruckner and Secretary of the Air Force Quarles were on the program.

Warren Money Feud Remains Unsettled

WARRE, Ohio (AP)—The city administration still was without authority to spend money for government functions, today despite stepped up efforts by the Democratic majority of City Council and Republican Mayor William C. Burbank to settle their controversy.

A compromise was almost reached Monday, but the mayor later "called the whole thing off," accusing the Democrats of not living up to their part of the bargain.

The city has been without authority to spend money in its treasury since April 1 because of the mayor's veto of a $1,291,403 appropriation measure for 1956 passed by the Democrats, who hold a 6-4 majority in the council.

He said he vetoed the measure because it eliminated nine jobs held by administration Republicans.

Maj. Gen. Melvin J. Maas, chairman of the President's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped, was here to address four-day conference and workshop on the handicapped today.

"I'm proud of what I can do with a cigar," he said. "but I'm even prouder of my golf. Some of it has improved since I've been blind."

Cadillac

Giving In...To His Practical Side!

We will tell you, in all honesty, that this gentleman was a little dubious when he first walked into the showroom.

There was no question, to be sure, about his wanting a Cadillac.

But, quite frankly, he wondered whether or not he was in a position to purchase a motor car as wonderful as the 1956 Cadillac.

But now he is learning some facts about this distinguished motor car that are removing the doubt from his mind.

First of all, he is learning that a Cadillac is relatively modest in its initial cost.

He is finding out about Cadillac's extraordinary dependability and freedom from repairs.

— He is discovering the remarkable facts about

Cadillac's traditionally wonderful resale value.

And, lastly, he is being told that, at this time of the year, his dealer is able to make Cadillac ownership even more practical than usual.

That's why we suspect that—having given in long ago to his heart—he is now giving in to his practical side. And that's a combination no man can resist!

If you have considered Cadillac the car in your future—but have postponed making the move for reasons of economy—we urge you to stop in soon.

As an experienced Cadillac dealer, we have established a wonderful relationship with fine-car motorists throughout the community. Our reputation for integrity is positive assurance of your satisfaction as a customer.

Miss Phyllis Hively Becomes Bride Of Robert E. Bassler

The Jerusalem Lutheran Church in Columbiana was the scene of the spring wedding of Miss Phyllis Joann Hively, daughter of Leonard B. Hively and the late Mrs. Hively and Robert Elmer Bassler, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bassler of Fulton, Md., Saturday afternoon.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. A. Anderson before an altar banked with palms. Miss Carol Ann Puttkamer presented nuptial organ selections. Mrs. Henry Todd sang "I Love You Truly" and "A Wedding Prayer."

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of chantilly lace over tulle and taffeta. It was styled with a fitted bodice, Peter Pan collar and long pointed sleeves. The skirt was full length with a scalloped chantilly lace overskirt.

Her elbow length veil was held in place by a heart-shaped tiara, studded with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses.

Miss Margaret Louise Hively, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Joyce Hively, a friend of the bride, was the bridesmaid. Both wore floor length gowns of pink taffeta and carried fans arranged with pink carnations.

Elaine Griffin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Griffin, was flower girl and appeared in a light pink taffeta gown, fashioned like those worn by the attendants.

George Roy Dasher, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

J. Herman Bassler of Columbus served his brother as best man. Ushers were Norman R. Bassler, brother of the bridegroom, and Carroll T. Murphy, both of Fulton, Md.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Katherine Hively, wore a navy dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a rose dress with navy accessories and a white rose corsage.

A reception was held in the church social rooms arranged by the Daughters of the King Class of the church.

Those who assisted in serving were Mrs. George H. Dasher of Ellicott, Md., sister of the bridegroom and Misses Nancy Verdier of Corrine Hickman, Miss Loretta Mauck of Clarksville, Md., the guest book. Out-of-town guests were from Maryland, Illinois, Columbus, North Canton, Lima, Minerva, Winona, Salem and Canfield.

The bride, a graduate of Columbiana High School, attended secretarial school at Youngstown University. She was employed by the Union Bank in Columbiana.

A graduate of Clarksville, Md., High School, the bridegroom is associated with his father in farming.

For her honeymoon trip through the South, Mrs. Bassler wore a light blue sheath dress with matching coat, navy accessories and a white rose corsage. The couple will make their home at Fulton, Md.

Is Excess Fat A Disease?

It might be well to consider excess weight a disease. It is frequently classed as the number one killer of the 20th century. If you suffer the social and physical handicaps of being overweight you must read this letter from Mrs. Ralph Peipert, R.R. 1, Houston, Ohio. She writes: "As long as I live I will recommend Rennie's Concentrate to every overweight person that I know. When I started taking Rennie's I weighed 164 lbs. In the few weeks that I have been taking Rennie's I have lost 25 lbs. I have never felt better since losing this needless weight, and I look much better, too."

Thousands of others have overcome the social and physical discomfort of being overweight with this effective home recipe. It's easy — no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drugist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennie's Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No loss of energy while going without food for you can eat normally. If simple easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves — if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Insist on and be sure to get Rennie's.

IN THE RESORT collections, two perennial favorites appear in new versions. The shirt dress (left) is in pink polished Swiss cotton. It's cut with action back, push-up sleeves, collar with back interest. It's worn over a crinoline. Sundress (right) also in Swiss cotton, is black-and-gray. Dress has its own built-in bra and straps that can be hidden at will.

No Business; Lisbon Council Cancels Session

LISBON — Three visitors and two reporters were on hand at 7:30 p.m. Monday for the regular meeting of Village Council — but the Council failed to show up.

Mayor Wilbur Warren said today the meeting was called off about noon yesterday. He said he was ill and was not able to attend and Village Solicitor Charles Pike also was unable to attend.

There wasn't much business on the agenda anyway, he commented.

roll and Raymond, $3,000 for Cunningham, $2,000 for Stutler and Bishop and $1,500 for Hanna.

George Rigas, John D'Angelo, Fred McCormick and James Annas of East Liverpool, indicted on gambling charges, also pleaded not guilty. Their bonds were set at $500 each.

Counsel for Cunningham, Carroll, Stutler and Raymond requested a change in trial sites. Judge Sharp set the hearings on the request for Monday.

Bishop, whose arrest first broke the East Liverpool police scandal, pleaded lack of funds to hire an attorney, and the court appointed Atty. William Bush of Wellsville to represent him.

Others appearing for arraignment, pleading guilty and requesting probation are:

Wayne Oesch, 31, of RD 1, Salem, two counts of forgery.

Wayne Defenbaugh of Wellsville, three charges of burglary and larceny.

James Murphy, 27, of East Palestine, bigamy.

Charles Mercer Jr., 27, of East Liverpool, burglary.

Wilford Wright, 30, of Highlandtown, receiving stolen property.

Alfred Higgins, 21, Ronald Dunn, 24, and Dale Rice, 31, all of East Liverpool, auto theft.

Pleading not guilty to charges were:

Rice, carrying concealed weapons.

Richard C. Fleeson and Arthur Felger, both 18, East Palestine, two counts of burglary.

Frank Schmidt, 27, of Wellsville, larceny.

Betty Sanders of East Liverpool, cutting with intent to wound.

The grand jury reported April 16 after a nine-day investigation of 15 routine criminal matters and a sweeping probe of gambling and corruption in East Liverpool.

3 Holdup Men Believed Involved In Crime Wave

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — Police say three men who made an abortive attempt to rob a bakery here over the weekend were involved in a wave of breaking and entering jobs in West Virginia and Ohio.

Two of the three were killed in a gun duel with city police during the robbery attempt early Sunday morning — Eddie Taylor, 54, of Parkersburg, and Dearman Lott, 44, of Palestine, W. Va.

The third man, 21-year-old Ronnie Roberts of Parkersburg, lies seriously wounded in a Parkersburg Hospital.

called it "self-defeating" because it provided for a return to high, rigid price supports on basic crops and contained other sections whose effect would have been to raise farm prop levels. He contended these provisions would cancel the surplus-reducing and income-raising features of the proposed soil bank, under which farmers would be paid for taking some of their cropland out of production and putting it to conservation uses.

He asked Congress, after vetoing the many-sided farm bill, to enact legislation to set up the soil bank alone. He also suggested steps be taken to allow advance payments to farmers who agree to participate this year.

Johnson said Eisenhower "can rest assured that the Congress will give him $1,200,000,000 to set up the soil bank." The Texan claimed the soil bank originally was a Democratic idea.

The House Appropriations Committee last week voted that amount for a soil bank when it approved an Agriculture Department money bill. Although some committee Republicans voted for this, they later issued a minority report contending there was no legal authority for a soil bank without separate legislation.

Committee Democrats said there was under a 21-year-old soil conservation law. Johnson echoed this view Monday night.

In his radio-TV talk Monday night, Johnson used a film clip and a recording of part of a 1952 campaign speech Eisenhower made at Kasson, Minn. He also quoted from another 1952 speech Eisenhower delivered at Brookings, S. D.

In the Kasson speech, Eisenhower said that "without any 'ifs' or 'buts' I say to you that I stand behind — and the Republican party stands behind — the price support laws now on the books." The President went on to say, "This includes the amendment . . . to continue through 1954, the price supports on basic commodities at 90 per cent of parity."

Johnson quoted Eisenhower as saying at Brookings that "the Republican party is pledged to the sustaining of the 90 per cent parity price support." In this quoted excerpt, there was no qualification as to year.

"But once the Republicans came into office, this promise was forgotten," Johnson stated. "Despite all efforts of Democrats to stop it, President Eisenhower's administration did away with 90 per cent supports for the farmers."

"In its place went something called the sliding scale. Well, the farmers have slid down that scale ever since."

Struthers Truck Driver Is Injured In Crash

One driver received minor injuries in a two-truck collision at 3:30 a.m. today on Rt. 14, three-tenths of a mile west of the Pennsylvania-Ohio line, the State Highway Patrol reported.

Thomas Winterbottom, 28, of Struthers, the victim, is reported in good condition in Salem City Hospital with a possible fractured left knee cap, contusions and abrasions.

According to the patrol, Winterbottom was injured when the truck he was driving rammed into the rear of a truck operated by James Dickson, 24, of Washingtonville. The front end of Winterbottom's vehicle was heavily damaged. Dickson's truck received only minor damage.

The patrol said Winterbottom will be cited for failure to stop in an assured clear distance ahead upon his release from the hospital.

Firemen Extinguish House-Trailer Blaze

A blaze in a house trailer located in Wilson's Mobile Court on Damascus Rd. was extinguished by city firemen at 10:28 p.m. Monday.

According to Fire Chief Clarence W. Wright, the fire was caused by defective wiring. The dwelling, owned by Russell Gates, was covered by insurance. An estimate of the damage, which was confined to the interior, has not been made.

Mrs. Gates and her two children were in the trailer when the fire was discovered. A neighbor in the trailer court, Edwin Ebbins, aided the occupants in evacuating the trailer, Chief Wright said.

Ebbins had partially extinguished the fire before firemen arrived.

segregation crusade, posted a notice Monday night saying it would comply with the U. S. Supreme Court ruling holding bus segregation unconstitutional.

Mayor Orders Segregation

The order to stop assigning seats according to race put the bus company squarely in the middle between the Supreme Court ruling and a stern warning earlier Monday from Mayor W. A. Gayle that the company continue to maintain strict racial segregation.

The company's directive bore the name of Manager J. H. Bagley.

Before the desegregation order was posted, Gayle hinted that legal action might be taken against the company if bus officials disregarded state and city laws requiring segregation.

City police said they had no orders to make any arrests of drivers or bus company officials.

It remained to be seen whether the three-member City Commission would take legal action against the bus company for violating state and city laws requiring separate seating facilities.

Montgomery, in the southeastern quarter of Alabama, has a population of about 120,000. About 50,000 are Negroes.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., a leader in the 5-month-old bus boycott, indicated there was little chance the protest movement would be called off before tonight at the earliest.

King, a Negro Baptist minister, said Negroes generally would continue to refuse to ride the buses until a mass meeting is held to decide if their demands have been satisfactorily met.

He said the bus company's action would seem to satisfy demand for unsegregated seating and courtesy to Negro patrons from bus drivers. But King pointed out that the boycotters have also asked that Negro drivers be employed on predominantly Negro routes.

Won't Chase Policy

When the Supreme Court ruling was announced Monday, Mayor Gayle emphasized there would be "no change" in the City Commission's policy. "We will do everything in our power to maintain segregation on city buses," he said.

"We're going to enforce the state and city ordinances just as we have been doing, and we expect the bus company to continue to abide by these laws."

Gayle and Commissioners Clyde Sellers and Frank Parks joined the pro-white Montgomery White Citizens Council last December after early efforts to end the Negro bus boycott failed.

The boycott has been in rigid effect since Dec. 5 when Mrs. Rosa Parks, a Negro seamstress, was fined $14 in police court because she refused to move to the back of a bus.

A Montgomery County grand jury indicted 90 Negro leaders about three months ago for violating Alabama's antiboycott law. King, the first and only Negro tried thus far, was convicted and has appealed a $500 fine.

King is president of the Montgomery Improvement Assn., a newly formed Negro organization which has operated a car pool for the thousands of Negroes who joined in the protest movement.

The company is a subsidiary of National City Lines, Inc., of Chicago, which operates bus franchises in more than 30 cities throughout the nation.

The mass refusal of Negroes to ride the Montgomery buses has forced the company to raise its rates 50 per cent and drastically curtail operations. It has been estimated that 95 per cent of the Negro customers, who once made up about 75 per cent of the total patronage, have stopped riding buses.

broadcast added, "he emphasized that the Soviet Union expects Britain to help achieve better understanding with America."

There have been reports here that Bulganin and Khrushchev are fishing for an invitation to visit the United States and are hoping the British might help them get it.

Eden was reported anxious to make clear Britain's determination to protect her Middle Eastern oil resources against any unprovoked attack. He was critical of the sale of Red arms to Arab nations, charging it has spurred rising tensions in the area.

The informant said the Prime Minister already had stressed to the Soviet chiefs the determination of the Western Powers to intervene against any Middle Eastern aggressor if Russia by veto blocks U.N. action.

In turn, the Soviet chiefs have pressed Eden for dissolution of the Baghdad Pact, which links Britain, Turkey, Iraq, Iran and Pakistan, the informant said. He added that Eden had refused to consider it.

However, the informant said an accord might be reached whereby Britain would agree to de-emphasize the military side of the pact in return for Russian support of a U.N. peace program that would include rationing of arms sales in the Middle East.

Khrushchev showed plainly in a speech Monday night to British Labor party bigwigs that he was nettled by the often cool reception he and Bulganin have received from British leaders and the occasional jeering the public has given them. The speech, which repeated old Red charges against the West, struck most of his listeners as being bad-tempered and abusive.

Only a few hours earlier, after being roundly heckled during a tour of Birmingham, Khrushchev had boasted there that the Soviet Union is developing guided missiles with H-bomb warheads that "can hit every point in the world."

"Never shake your fist at a Russian," he said in the Birmingham speech.

The Red boss's brush with the British Socialists came at a dinner in the House of Commons given by the Labor party's executive group and shadow cabinet—the men who would form the government of Britain if Labor won the next election.

Those who attended said Khrushchev renewed the old Communist charge that the West touched off World War II by egging on Hitler to attack Russia. He also denounced U.S. demands for a tight inspection system to enforce any disarmament plan, saying the proposals "would allow agents to look into people's bedrooms."

Los his Temper

But what caused Khrushchev to lose his temper was an exchange of words over antisemitism and treatment of anti-Communist Socialists jailed behind the Iron Curtain.

Hugh Gaitskell, leader of the Labor party, protested that Russian Jews had been persecuted and asked Khrushchev and Bulganin to use their influence toward the release of Social Democrats jailed in Red satellite nations.

"There are no Social Democrats in the Soviet Union and what happens to Social Democrats in other countries is no business of mine," Khrushchev snapped.

As for antisemitism in the Soviet Union, he retorted, "Nonsense."

The dinner party broke up soon afterwards in a cool atmosphere. Gaitskell reportedly told friends he found Khrushchev uncompromising, tough, ruthless, emotional and bad-tempered. And Khrushchev's speech was in the classical stony tradition of Stalin's day, Gaitskell said, despite Soviet protests that things have changed.

In early America, maple sugar was the staple, cane sugar the delicacy, but the roles have now been reversed.

A United Nations report estimates there are between 30 and 40 million refugees in the world today.

Indians To Face Kansas City Wednesday; Score To Pitch

Game Postponed Due To Weather

Cleveland To Begin 15-Game Road Trip

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians had an off day today prior to starting a 15-game tour which will take them to six of the other seven cities in the American League.

The Indians were scheduled to meet the Chicago White Sox Monday night in the first night game of the season at Municipal Stadium, but the game was postponed because of cold weather. It will be played at a later date.

Herb Score, who was scheduled to pitch Monday night, will hurl the first game of the extended tour Wednesday night in Kansas City.

After two games in Kansas City, the Indians are set to play three in Detroit, three in Washington, two in Baltimore, two in Boston and three in New York. They also will play Brooklyn in an exhibition in Jersey City.

They will return to Cleveland May 11, opening a two-week home stand in a night game against Kansas City.

Manager Al Lopez says he expects Al Smith to return to the lineup in Kansas City. Smith, who has been bothered with a charley-horse for weeks, missed the second game of a doubleheader against Detroit here Sunday.

"He was given a shot," Lopez said, "and it's supposed to take 48 hours to wear off. At least, I hope he'll be all right."

Umpires Will Call Game If Fans Riot

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Warren Giles, president of the National Baseball League, says umpires at Coe Field Stadium have been told to declare a mandatory forfeit of the game if there are any more bleacher uprisings by fans of the Philadelphia Phillies.

"The umpires have the right to forfeit a game if circumstances justify it," Giles said Monday night on a local radio sports program.

Some of the fans conducted a beer can and bottle barrage Sunday in the second game of a doubleheader between the Phillies and the New York Giants. The incident brought protests from Bill Rigney, Giants manager, and Whitely Lockman, Giant outfielder.

Beer is not sold at the stadium but is brought in by fans in bottles and cans. The Phillies are seeking a license to sell it in paper cups.

A 20-man police detail was placed on duty inside the park Monday night and one fan was arrested during the Brooklyn Dodgers 6-1 victory over the Phillies.

Edward Conlan, 36, of Gloucester, N.J., was charged with disorderly conduct after he left the leftfield stands and went onto the field to talk with a player.

Gonzales, Poirier Re-match Planned

NEW YORK (AP)—A return bout was in the making today between Tex Gonzales and Gene Poirier. The two scrappy middleweights belted each other freely in a telecast bout at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night with Gonzales earning the unanimous decision over 10 rounds.

Referee Ted Martin and Judge Artie Adala each had Gonzales the winner by 6-3-1 scores. Judge Leo Birnbaum voted for Gonzales 7-3. The AP card had Gonzales a closer victor, 5-4-1.

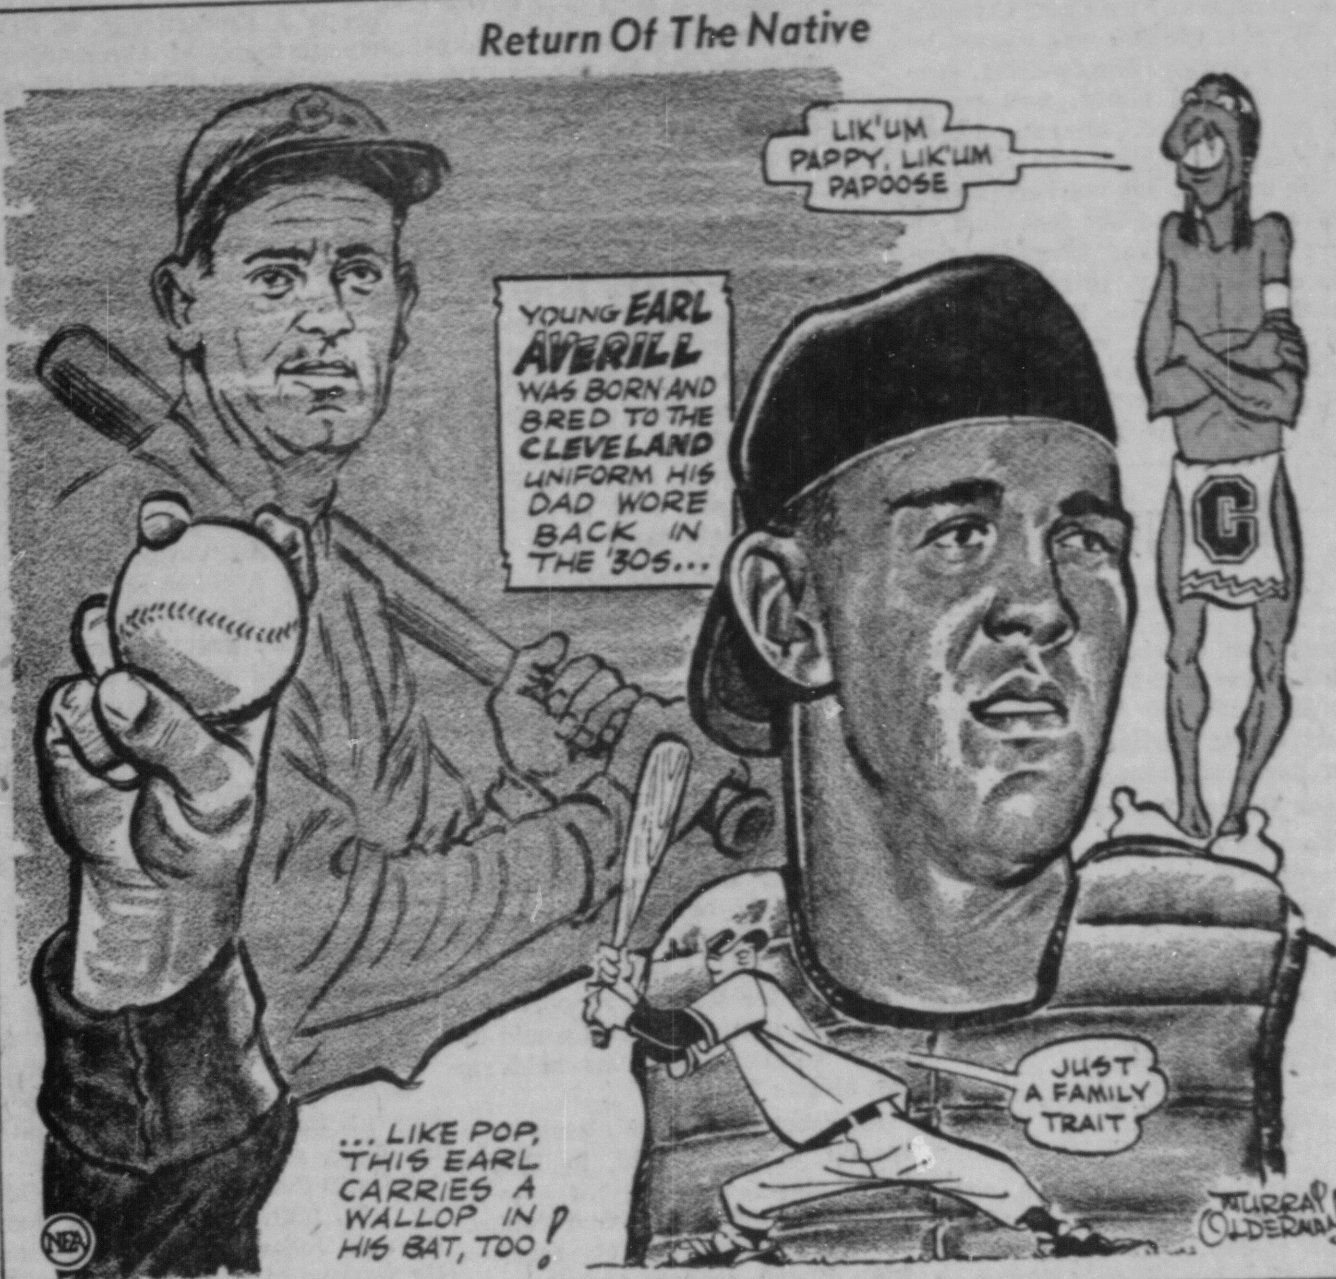

The 23-year-old Gonzales, still growing, outweighed his 24-year-old rival, 156 to 151½. Poirier had been a 2-1 favorite earlier in the week but it was pick 'em at fight time.

Kid Gavilan Underdog In Bout Tonight

LONDON (AP)—Kid Gavilan goes into tonight's return bout with Peter Waterman a betting underdog but a popular favorite.

Both positions were unusual for the Cuban fighter, who lost to Waterman Feb. 7 in one of the most controversial fights in the British ring in a long time. The bookies make Waterman, a 21-year-old Briton, a 4-5 favorite this time, but British sportswriters favor Gavilan.

The writers were virtually unanimous in criticizing the decision in the first bout, and the uproar led to the eventual suspension of the referee, 71-year-old Ben Green. Gavilan, who has been involved in many a disputed decision over the course of two years, predicted "a referee will not be necessary to add up the points this time."

Despite his prediction Irishman Andrew Smythe was named referee.

The Keed has been impressive in training and will go into the ring for tonight's 10-rounder a pound 149 pounds. That's two pounds over the limit for the welterweight division, which Gavilan once ruled as world champion.

Waterman, who relaxes with a good book or an evening at the ballet, thinks he learned a lot from their last fight. This time he plans to fight from long range and spend as little time as possible in the clinches. That was where Gavilan had the edge in February.

Waterman is undefeated in 32 professional bouts.

Providence Players Dominate All-Star Team

Players of the Providence Reds, champions of the regular season and the Calder Cup Playoffs, dominated the American Hockey League All-Star team.

Johnny Bower, their star goaltender, and their high scoring left wing and right wing, Camille Henry and Zello Toppazzini, were all selected to the first team by the press, radio and TV, while veteran defenseman, Andy Brannigan is on the second team.

The remaining three positions on the first team went to Frank Mathers of Pittsburgh at defense, Willie Marshall of the Hornets at center and Frank Sullivan of Buffalo at the other defense post.

The balance of the second team was made up of two Pittsburgh players, Gil Mayer in goal and Parker MacDonald at left wing.

Steve Kraftcheck of Cleveland at defense, Larry Wilson of Buffalo at center and Dunc Fisher of Hershey on right wing. Each first team player receives $300, the second, $200.

Flaherty To Testify In Boxing Probe

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Sid Flaherty, manager of Carl "Bobo" Olson, and described as the man who "actually runs" the San Francisco area major fight promotion organization, testifies today in the California boxing investigations.

James Cox, counsel for Gov. Goodwin J. Knight's inquiry into California boxing operations, said Benny Ford, San Francisco matchmaker and president of California Boxing Enterprises, Inc., would be called with Flaherty.

Johnny Munro, the CBE matchmaker at Richmond and Oakland, testified Monday that Sid Flaherty "actually runs" the CBE. Munro said Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club in New York, and Truman Gibson, IBC secretary, were shareholders of the CBE.

California boxing rules forbid a manager of a fighter from participating in fight promotion. Flaherty manages Olson, former middleweight champion, and a stable of 40 boxers.

Return Of The Native

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Jerry Lumpe, the only rookie to win a regular job on the New York Yankees this year, may be heading for a cozy spot on the bench, Manager Casey Stengel indicated today.

The professor wore a more-wrinkled - than - usual look when he took up the subject of the 22-year-old shortstop's fielding.

"All I know is that he's supposed to be a better thrower than this," he said. "Phil Page had him down in Birmingham last year and he was going out making all the relay plays from the outfield. Throwing a lot of guys out at the plate too. Does that sound like a guy who can't throw?"

No, Professor, it doesn't. What then is the answer?

"Well, I can't bench him right this minute," said Stengel. "He's hitting .350 and that's good."

But he indicated that unless Lumpe improves by Friday, he's heading for a rest. By that time, Billy Martin will have recovered from an arm injury. Andy Carey has become more or less a fixture at third base, leaving only one opening for Gil McDougald, the all-around man-shortstop.

Stengel thinks that Lumpe might be playing under a strain. After all, it's not every rookie who breaks into a pennant-winning lineup. In fact, except for Lumpe and outfielder Lou Skizas, every other rookie the Yanks had in spring stations has departed for way stations.

Lumpe's throwing arm has been both weak and erratic thus far this year. It was the same in the Southland, but then he was operating off a bad leg.

"Still," mused Stengel, "he showed me something in Washington last week when he threw that big guy out at the plate after playing back."

Stengel was referring to Lumpe tossing out Roy Sievers at the plate after fielding a grounder near the grass. Sievers was on third at the time.

Maybe by mid-season Drysdale will be no more than a wisp of memory in the fast-shifting and highly demanding moves of the game. But Monday night he was every rookie's dream turning into reality.

Drysdale, it was explained, might not have been with the Dodgers at all if it hadn't been for that now embarrassing afterthought, somebody's recollection of the boy and his possibilities and that somebody's willingness to give him his chance. Drysdale had only an 11-11 record with Montreal last year in the International League.

After Monday night's game, his teammates clustered around him in clamorous congratulation.

Manager Walter Alston commented: "He struck out Richie Ashburn and that proves he has good stuff, because that's what it takes to get Ashburn out of there."

One disconsolate Phillies fan observed: "That kid could have pitched all the way from second base, the way he was going with his fast ball, curve and slider, and the Phils would have been just as bemused."

Ball Game Called After 8 Hours Due To Hunger

GIFU, Japan (AP)—For seven innings, a softball game between the Kawasaki Aircraft Co. team and the Gifu Forestry Bureau outfit was strictly routine. A 4-4 standoff, nothing out of the ordinary.

Then things started to drag. The two teams battled through 29 scoreless innings before the chief umpire called it a tie and collapsed from hunger, 8 hours and 40 minutes after the game had started. The other umpires and players ate during the game Monday, but he was too busy.

New York—Tex Gonzalez, 156, East Orange, N.J., outpointed Gene Poirier, 151½, Niagara Falls, N.Y., 10.

Clark hit the ball solidly but outfielder Dave Mann raced to his left and hauled it in for the final out for Rochester, which won the game anyway 2-1.

Paige came to the Marlins on opening night—by whirlwind. He was supposed to land on the pitcher's mound before the game but somehow the pilot missed his signal and it wasn't until the second inning that Satch stepped out of the flying machine in a cloud of dust.

He was properly attired in a baseball uniform and ambled to the dugout. Someone brought a rocking chair. Paige obligingly took it and struck a familiar pose.

Bill Vecek, executive vice president of the Marlins, insists that bringing in Paige was no joke but a sincere effort to help the ball club.

"I wouldn't have brought Satch here if he wasn't going to be a help to the ball club," Vecek said. "The old boy still has got a lot on the ball. I honestly think he'll be a big help."

Asked what it cost to bring Paige to the Marlins, Vecek admitted only that he comes high. "Paige and I have been friends for years," Bill said. "He was with me last year on a barnstorming tour. He can still pitch."

Paige, who entertains the other players with his antics, retired the final batter Sunday night in the second game of a double-header to save a 3-2 decision for Miami.

Monday night Manager Don Osborn called on him and Paige came through again. He pitched to Allie Clark, the ex-Cleveland outfielder who came on as a pinch hitter.

UNIVERSAL TRAINING PAYS

Regardless of the subjects pursued, there's a difference in university too, in teaching, in study, in recitation, and in training to apply what one learns. When you get on the job, here's a big difference in favor of the Penn-Ohio University trained man or woman—in salary, in understanding, in adaptability, and in ability to get ahead on his own initiative, and forge ahead on a blind alley job. Penn-Ohio University, and its Salem College, have proved all these things. Why not get into one of them now?

THE RIGHT TO KNOW

Opinion Split Wide Open Over AP Apology To Army For Kennedy's Surrender Story

By KENT COOPER
By North American Newspaper Alliance
In New York on May 9, 1945, in response to a telegraphic message from San Francisco signed by Helen Rogers Reid, vice president of the New York Herald Tribune, that I make a statement as general manager of The Associated Press, I telegraphed:
The observance of all obligations voluntarily assumed is, always has been and will continue to be a cardinal principle of The Associated Press and its employes. But there will be no prejudice of Edward Kennedy by me. I have not yet had the advantage of a personal meeting with him or the military authorities to obtain detailed information that I should like to have. Any implication that any prejudice whatever is indicated by this statement would be entirely unfair.

A few publishers felt the issuance of a prompt expression of profound regret by The Associated Press was imperative, without waiting for the completion of the investigation by the military authorities or waiting for Kennedy to present his own defense, which actually was denied him until he reached New York several weeks later.

I was the one solely responsible both to the board of directors and the employees for the administration of the news service and personnel and I could not at that moment have written an apology based on a conclusion that Kennedy had clearly broken his word of honor. I had, it would have been in contradiction of my public declaration that I would neither convict nor acquit Kennedy on the then unproven charges until he had made his defense both to the military and to me.

KENNEDY AND OTHER similarly assigned correspondents knew that I had sought saner censorship. I was concerned that Kennedy had put the story through as justification of my repeated criticisms of wrongful news suppression, made during the war.

Finally, I was well aware that many members of The Associated Press, as well as some members of the board of directors, either publicly or privately had indicated that they felt Kennedy had done nothing wrong and that there was nothing to apologize for.

In the Kennedy case, the suggestions and demand by a few members for the immediate dishonorable discharge of Kennedy was attributed to fear of President Truman, and the President must have feared the resentment of Joseph Stalin. As the years passed, before Stalin's death, there was no indication that ever again would President Truman so generously defer to the Soviet dictator's wishes.

As I had directed, there had been telegraphed to the members, "for publication if desired," details of each development as it occurred, as well as the texts of all the messages heretofore mentioned. These were widely published.

Intense feeling was aroused not only in The Associated Press but in the public mind because the affair constituted a conflict between military authority, often arbitrary, and American repugnance to autocratic action, especially resentment over punishment for disclosing information to which the public was entitled.

THE FEELING was, indeed, so intense that no one asked why Kennedy happened to be picked by Gen. Allen to attend the surrender ceremony. The reason was that he represented, not Edward Kennedy, personally an enemy of political censorship who decided to thwart it, but the management of The Associated Press, which had given him an assignment as war correspondent and gotten him accredited with a conviction on its part and an agreement on his that he would abide by the rules of the army.

Robert McLean, publisher of the Philadelphia Bulletin and president of The Associated Press, became convinced that regrets should be expressed. After talking with me on May 10 he decided, with no objection on my part, to make a statement in harmony with his convictions. I could not, however, and did not alter my decision to await Kennedy's explanation before announcing my own conclusion. The following, written by President McLean, was thereupon transmitted throughout the world:

The Associated Press profoundly regrets the distribution on Monday of the report of the total surrender in Europe, which investigation now clearly discloses was distributed in advance of authorization by Supreme Allied Headquarters.

The whole, long honorable record of The Associated Press is based on its high sense of responsibility as to the integrity and authenticity of the news and the observance of obligations voluntarily assumed, as appropriately reaffirmed by the general manager in his statement of yesterday.
The statement was welcomed by the army and relieved the tension. It also gave prompt relief to those member publishers who felt that an apology was necessary on their behalf because they admittedly had printed Kennedy's dispatch feeling it was morally wrong to do so. The government's action, they said, was enough to convince them that Kennedy had broken his pledge. However, they added that their decision to print the dispatch was based upon a conviction that they had no right to withhold such important news from the people.

THIS WAS EXACTLY Kennedy's reason for violating the censorship! In fact, it was stated and not denied that every member of The Associated Press published the Kennedy dispatch, an action which I preferred to interpret not as approval of what Kennedy did but as disapproval of what President Truman had tried to do.

The panic at Supreme Headquarters in the Kennedy case was attributable to fear of President Truman, and the President must have feared the resentment of Joseph Stalin. As the years passed, before Stalin's death, there was no indication that ever again would President Truman so generously defer to the Soviet dictator's wishes.

A week after Kennedy sent the dispatch, Supreme Headquarters issued this verdict as a result of its investigation:

War Correspondent Edward Kennedy, of The Associated Press, having deliberately violated a trust deposited in him by prematurely releasing through unauthorized channels and deliberately avoiding military censorship a news story concerning which he was pledged to secrecy, is discredited and ordered to return to the United States.

A month later Kennedy arrived in New York and spent several hours discussing the incident with his general manager. During the talks Kennedy assured me that in disclosing the Reims surrender as he did he had no other motive than to perform a public service honorably and that he did so because he felt political, not military, censorship was involved.

I told him that I had abhorred political censorship longer than he had, but I could not let my personal feelings sway me to violate a pledge of confidence given by me on behalf of The Associated Press.

HE INSISTED that he had not been influenced in his actions by anything I had advocated regarding saner censorship. We discussed the strain upon his patience when the report of the surrender was ordered broadcast by the Germans while at the same time his own reports and those of his colleagues were suppressed.

I then told him: "There is only one point involved here: No employee of The Associated Press has the right to disregard what is defined by the source as a pledge of confidence, when he knows that those who imposed it still hold it to be in force."

"This being true, I noted with regret that upon your arrival in New York and before you saw me you publicly stated that you would 'do it again.' This statement was carried on Associated Press wires after you approved it. All employees as well as members could read it. It thus became indelibly written into the record as your own conception of proper procedure. Obviously it is impossible for you to continue in the service where you may 'do it again.' Moreover, if you remained others could take your retention as warrant for them to do the same thing."

"Upon this severance of your employment, let me say that, barring this one instance, you have had an excellent record and that all employees of the Associated Press, including myself, wish you good health, happiness and prosperity."

During the ten years after this momentous instance of news suppression took place, this thought constantly has recurred to me: History tells of many strikingly dramatic statements made under stress or circumstances by statesmen and military heroes.

IF IN REPLY to the Russian dictator's request that announcement of the end of the war be delayed the following had been sent, it would have been truly Trumanesque but also traditionally American of an earlier era:

It is for you to withhold news of the surrender from your subjects as long as you choose. As for America, the supreme command will announce it to our citizens the instant it occurs because they are entitled to know it at once.

Sen. Sheridan Downey, Democrat, of California, on July 22, 1946, told the United States Senate that Gen. Eisenhower had "removed any bar" that might prevent Kennedy from working with the army "in his profession as a writer," adding:

Gen. Eisenhower's action, as I understand it, does not rescind the decision of Supreme Headquarters in the case, which the War Department still believes was justified but, nevertheless, restores to Mr. Kennedy the opportunity of resuming, without prejudice, his work as a military correspondent should he desire to do so in the future. Gen. Eisenhower also has told me that he wishes Mr. Kennedy every success.

Meanwhile Edward Kennedy had gone to live in Santa Barbara, Calif., where recommended by many, including the general manager of the Associated Press, he served as managing editor of the Santa Barbara News-Press. Leaving there, he went to Monterey. He remained there for many years he has continued happily as editor, convinced as ever he was that he acted properly in Paris on May 7, 1945, to thwart political censorship.

Farm Bureau Chief Raps Government Aid

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The president of the American Farm Bureau Federation says government help has "nearly destroyed incentive among farmers."

Speaking at a railroad convention Monday, Charles Shuman of Sullivan, Ill., told the 250 delegates:

"A lot of farmers think they have a right to a decent income. They're wrong. They only have the right to earn a decent income."

Agriculture, he said, should be put back on a system of free enterprise and incentive. "We must go back to producing what the consumer needs and what he can use. Economic law cannot be replaced by political action," Shuman said.

He praised President Eisenhower for vetoing the "hodgepodge farm bill thrown together by Congress."

Some government support may be necessary in farm crises, Shuman said, but "the law of supply and demand is the ultimate answer."

Shuman addressed a joint convention of the American Railway Development Assn. and the Railway Development Assn. of the Southeast.

Evacuation Now Prime Aim In Case of Attack

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A civil defense official says the advent of superbombs has made obsolete those road-signs you see reading, "This highway restricted to civil defense traffic in event of attack."

Since evacuation is now considered one of the prime aims in case there is a warning of an attack, you would be allowed to use the highways to get out of town.

George Arnold, Columbus CD administrator, said Monday the signs were erected four years ago, when the prevailing theory was "sit tight and dig in." With the advent of super-powerful bombs, however, the "get out of town" theory took hold.

Maj. Gen. Leo M. Kreber, state CD director, admitted that "we've gotten a lot of criticism from people who thought the signs would keep them off the highways."
Eventually, the federal government intends to supplement the signs with directions telling motorists which routes to use in emergencies, Gen. Kreber said.

Relocation Of Section Of Rt. 603 To Be Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Highway Department announced today it will conduct a hearing Thursday in the Ashland County Courthouse to consider the proposed relocation of a section of Ohio 603.

Highway Director S. O. Linnell said the department is considering the relocation of Ohio 603 north of U. S. 30 in Millin.

The change in location would begin just south of the intersection of Ohio 603 and the Mansfield bypass and would extend southeast for three quarters of a mile to connect with U. S. 30 near Millin, Linnell said.

The director added that the proposed relocation would shorten the overall length of the highway considerably and would eliminate hazardous alignment and three weak and narrow structures.
